

Kelly A. Gauger

Kelly A. Gauger is the Deputy Director in the Office of Refugee Admissions at the U.S. Department of State's Bureau of Population, Refugees and Migration (PRM). She contributes to the development and execution of U.S. policy on refugee admissions to the United States. Ms. Gauger's work includes oversight of the administration's annual Report to Congress on Proposed Refugee Admissions; development of PRM's budget for the refugee admissions program; and managing PRM's oversight of its seven Resettlement Support Centers worldwide. She also helps manage PRM's relationship with U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services, the UN High Commissioner for Refugees, the International Organization for Migration, and refugee resettlement colleagues in governments around the world. Ms. Gauger joined PRM in 1999 and served in a variety of positions in the Admissions office prior to becoming Deputy in 2011.